Encl: (1) Resume of Buildings at San Francisco Naval Shipyard, presently occupied by Naval Radiological Defense Laboratory

1. In accordance with the expressed policy of the Bureau of Ships in reference (a) as to buildings at the San Francisco Naval Shipyard occupied by the Naval Radiological Defense Laboratory (NRDL) and the specific request of reference (b), attached hereto is a resume of buildings presently occupied by NRDL and the planned use of these buildings by the Naval Shipyard.

2. Reference (a) and this reply assume that buildings presently occupied by NRDL (Building 707 excepted) will be returned to use of the Shipyard in the reasonable future. It is desired to emphasize, however, that the new Naval Radiological Defense Laboratory permanent facility now before Congress will not house the Laboratory at its present level, yet continued expansion of NRDL is contemplated. It therefore appears that the return of Shipyard facilities occupied by NRDL to their planned use cannot be anticipated in the foreseeable future.
